About C-God4life

C-God4life stands as a musical virtuoso, seamlessly blending hip-hop and R&B to carve out his own genre, aptly named Champion Music. Under the real name Corey DaQ'uan Thacker, he initiated his lyrical journey at just 12 years old, unleashing a talent that would propel him to become a major force in the Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania music scenes.

Originating from the Lower East Side of Manhattan, New York City, C-God4Life's early verses marked the inception of his artistic evolution. Throughout his teenage years, he graced stages with lively performances, navigating the challenges of being a "Prexie" triathlete excelling in football, lacrosse, and basketball in Washington, Pennsylvania. Notably, he also Trophied in lacrosse at First Love Christian Academy while still being a student at Washington High School. Additionally, he lived in Pittsburgh during pivotal periods of his life and now career.

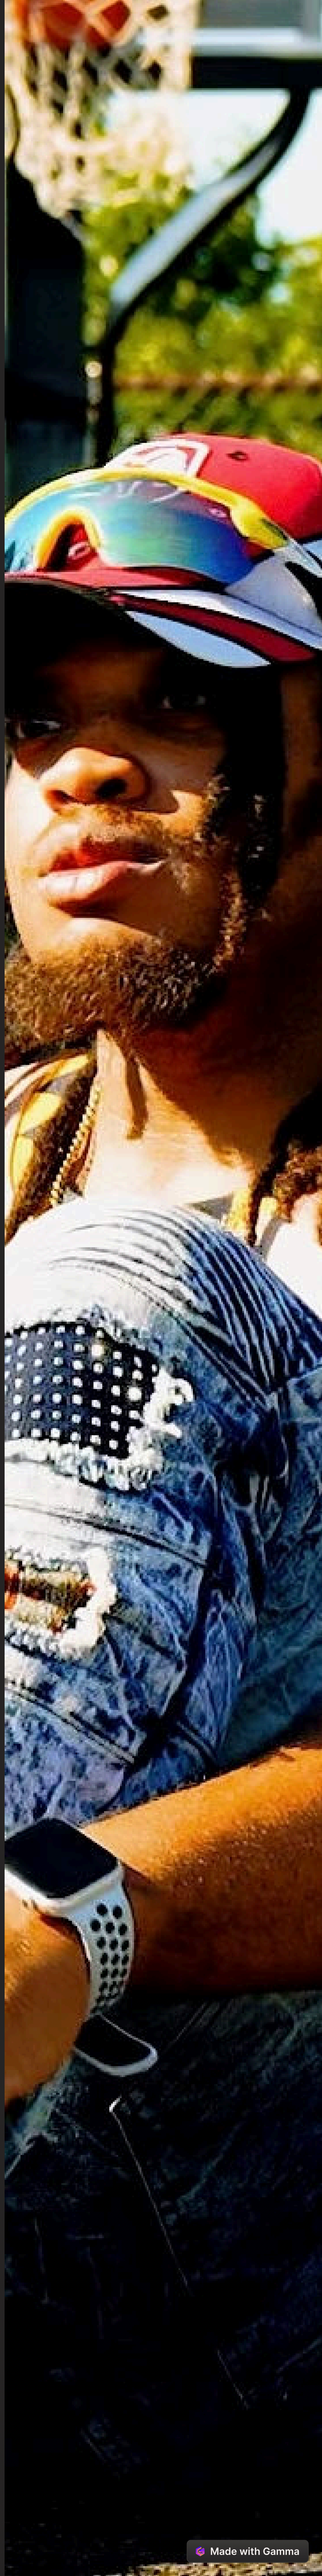

Raised by his mother of six kids and shaped by life in various major inner cities, from Camden, NJ, to Philadelphia, to Baltimore, Maryland, to Wilmington, Delaware, and back to Washington, PA, C-God4Life's journey is a mosaic of diverse environments that molded him into something extraordinary.

His life took profound turns, from the loss of his father on his 17th birthday, entering his senior year of football, to the discovery of his father's side of the family for the first time. In 2018, C-God4Life propelled the C-God4Life brand into the limelight, a pivotal moment in his journey. As the first major artist to emerge from Washington, Pennsylvania, C-God4Life swiftly burst onto national and international stages, securing his position as the second biggest international artist in the Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania areas since Wiz Khalifa. The unstoppable ascent inspired both a National American Tour and Ticketmastered European Tour, where he showcased his innate talents to a global audience, earning fervent acclaim from fans and music critics alike. C-God4Life's legacy is one of unbridled success, an unwavering rise to the summit of the rap industry, and an indomitable spirit that resonates through every performance.

Passionate about fostering the talents of fellow artists, C-God4Life actively contributes to the industry by extending opportunities for emerging musicians to join him on tour. Conducting auditions in the City of Pittsburgh last year, the initiative drew over 1,000 applicants. From this pool, three outstanding contenders were selected to share the stage with him on tour.

Beyond showcasing his support for emerging artists, C-God4Life has innovated his own musical realm, aptly named Champion Music. This unique sound is a testament to his belief that anyone can emerge victorious with unwavering focus and consistency. Through both his collaborative efforts and inventive approach to music, C-God4Life continues to shape the industry and inspire a new generation of aspiring artists.
